Recent feedback from some of Craig's clients...

Craig sold us our Margaret River house and we had no hesitation in using him when the time came to sell. The process was managed professionally throughout, with a high level of communication so we always knew what was happening. Issues were dealt with quickly and effectively, and the outcome exceeded our expectations. We had a very positive experience and would have no hesitation in recommending Craig to anyone thinking of buying or selling in the region.

A successful transaction does not occur by chance. Success, in most real estate transactions, is entirely attributed to the professionalism of a real estate agent. Craig Bamford, you are a professional real estate agent. You never influenced me, you listened attentively and acted on it. I was impressed by your honesty and efficiency. Communicating with you was easy and effortless. I will not hesitate to recommend you to any future client. I'm a contented customer.

I have found the First National Real Estate Office and in particular Craig Bamford to be extremely professional and friendly to deal with. His service and advice have been fast, accurate and efficient and with more than a little local knowledge sprinkled in to make the process of locating and purchasing real estate in this beautiful but competitive market location, Margaret River, a real pleasure. I believe Craig and the First National team are good at what they do because they really enjoy what they do and it shows.

Helpful Information

Investing in commercial real estate is a huge financial commitment, so just as well it's one of the things in life that DOES come with a guidebook!

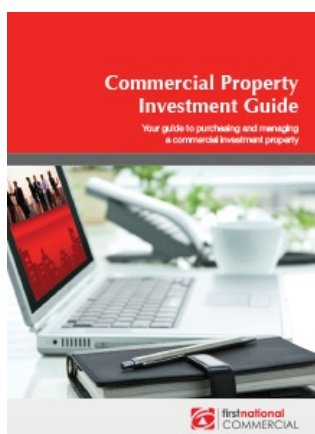

There is more to property investment than residential buying and selling, so for those interested in diversifying their property portfolio, commercial property may be the next logical step. Assuming you can secure the finance and have the patience to wait for longer term results, a commercial property investment can make a great addition to your investment strategy and, best of all, you can have it all managed by your friendly local Commercial Property Manager at Margaret River Real Estate.

One of the many advantages of commercial property investment is the potential for a strong return on your investment as market needs change. Choosing the right property in the ideal location can deliver great results, especially in situations where local demand for property is strong and supply is limited.

If you are interested in dipping your toe into the commercial property market, the first thing you can do is download and read our Commercial Property Investment Guide and then contact Craig Bamford on 0417 922 223 for specific advice. His understanding of the nuances of the local market will provide you with expert guidance and in the longer term, proactive management of your asset to ensure it retains its value, increases in value over time, and that the yield is maximised over the duration of your investment.
